

THE GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

(FORMERLY THE GRAND RAPIDS LEADER)

FIFTY YEAR, NO. 2042.

GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, MARCH 16, 1920

PRICE THREE CENTS

EBERT DENIES REPORT OF COMPROMISE

SAY HINDENBERG DISAPPROVES OF NEW REVOLUTION

FORMER ARMY HEAD DENIES ASSOCIATION WITH KAPP REGIME—REACTIONARIES STRENGTHENED

Germany's two governments—the new in Berlin and the old in Stuttgart—are still locked in a struggle for supremacy while reports thru Paris, today, reiterated that negotiations are in progress for a compromise. The Ebert government in Stuttgart is quite positive that no compromise can be considered.

Strike Hurts Kapp

On the face of the announcement by the rival governments, today, promise to witness the beginning of a determined controversy for control. Chancellor Kapp backed by bayonets of the troops that made it possible for him to oust the Ebert government is sitting tight in the German capitol but already feels the effect of the strong weapon of the socialists for use to combat him—the general strike—against this he declares that the most drastic measures will be taken immediately.

In Stuttgart President Ebert and his followers not only deny reports current yesterday that an agreement had been reached with the Kapp forces but declared there could be no negotiations except upon those of unconditional surrender by Dr. Kapp.

Assembly to Meet

The National Assembly called together by the Ebert government will meet at Stuttgart tomorrow to consider the situation. Field Marshall von Hindenberg who has been mentioned as a choice for the German President has eliminated himself from the situation. He is reported to have made a public declaration that he is not connected with the Kapp revolution and on the contrary disapproves it.

Civil war seems imminent in Germany as a result of the refusal of the Ebert government now setting at Stuttgart to carry on negotiations with the reactionary regime which these powers suddenly lost Saturday morning. Unconditional surrender of the men directing the new government is demanded by President Ebert who announces he will continue to direct the efforts of the troubled country from Wuerttemberg.

Extreme measures will be taken under the decree from 4:00 o'clock this afternoon. Details of the situation thruout Germany are somewhat obscure but there seems to be reason to believe the Ebert government is still holding control in the south and western sections while the Kapp regime is rather firmly entrenched in northeast Prussia and Silesia where many towns and cities are reported to have declared their adherence to the new government.

So far as is known armed forces of the two governments have not come into collision.

Receive Reinforcements

Berlin, March 16—Heavy troop reinforcements were received today by the new government in Berlin. They marched into Berlin from nearby garrison.

Chancellor Kapp who was carried into office on the point of 8,000 men three days ago, thus far, has been able to supply only military backing for his government. The base of his political authorities and the source from which he claims continues to be a matter of profound mystery. He appears boisterous and optimistic that the insurrection which he has will win the people.

Fear Kapp is Lost

If the general strike which is already terrorizing Berlin by reason of unexpected ramifications and which is reported spreading to the nearest vital industrial centers should be maintained for only three days the view of many here is that it would be unreasonable to assume that Kapp will be able to establish his government firmly despite his armed forces.

SERVICES WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. S. L. Rawson will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the home on Baker Street, Rev. Ludwig officiating and burial will be made in Forest Hill cemetery.

COST PER PUPIL IN SCHOOL LOW

FIGURES GIVEN BY SUPERINTENDENT ON EXPENSE AND ATTENDANCE.

"Our average cost per pupil for instruction in the high school last year was $48.64 compared with the state average of $52.65," Supt. E. G. Doudna explained at the annual school meeting at the Lincoln high school Monday night. "Here a large enrollment reduced the unit cost."

Mr. Doudna explained that in the grades the cost per pupil for the past year was $37.92 compared with a state average of $33.50. This was due principally, he explained, to the large cost per pupil in rooms having a small enrollment as those maintained in the Edison and Irving schools. Irregular enrollment in the grades and the irregularity which has been experienced during the past two years with serious epidemics of sickness has figured into this cost.

Janitor Services High

"Our Janitor service costs something more than twice the state average and our fuel cost was something more than twice the state average," the superintendent explained, "while the light, water and power cost was $1.67 per pupil compared with the state average of 92 cents. The fuel cost is being reduced this year by overhauling the heating plant at the Lincoln building. The power costs will be slightly reduced while janitor services will remain about the same. While the janitor service is much higher the buildings are much more carefully looked after than they are in most cities."

Commend Committee

Supt. Doudna explained the work accomplished by Senator Witter and T. W. Brazeau is securing the passage of a bill raising the tuition rate paid by pupils outside the cities from one dollar to two dollars per week. This means an increase of about three thousand dollars a year to the city. The entire committee composed of I. P. Witter, T. W. Brazeau, E. G. Doudna, J. R. Ragan and F. S. Gill, were given a vote of thanks by the meeting for the interest and benefit they brought to the city thru its passage.

Names Auditors

Chairman T. A. Taylor appointed a committee composed of G. M. Hill, Henry C. Demitz and Capt. Guy Nash was appointed to audit the treasurers report for the year.

Commissioner Guy O. Babcock, in commenting on the report of the superintendent, spoke of the saving in the cost of operating the schools in spite of the increased cost of living. He stated that when they made up their salary list for the teachers they based the salaries on what cities of this size were paying and did not feel that this saving was taken out of what the teachers should have received.

PROFESSOR THINKS MEN ARE ANXIOUS FOR WAR

SAYS GENERAL VOTE WOULD BE FORTY TO ONE FOR IT

Rockford, Ill.—Dr. Benjamin W. VanRiper of Rockford College for girls, in a recent lecture before the student body said: "If the right of mankind to make war were put to a universal vote, the world would vote forty to one for it." His statement is being widely discussed.

"Mankind," said Dr. Van Riper, "would not, if it could, forego the right to make war. Excitement is necessary to the physical well-being of the race. War exercises our highest virtues—courage, sacrifice, scorn of ease and social solidarity. If war is ever eliminated, we must have a moral substitute that will call into play these same virtues. Take war away and human life would flatten out to defeat. This would be a catatonic of a planet with war gone and a Sunday school peace established for all time. The recurrence of wars will be reduced only by education and the cultivation of human fellowship."

TWO FINGERS CRUSHED

John Malepski, who works in the printing and rewinding department at the Ahdawagam Paper Products Co., had two fingers crushed this afternoon, when a door was slammed onto his hand. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Waters. The accident will not be serious although it is a painful injury.

HAVE LARGE CROWD AT SECOND SERVICE

REV. BREED SPEAKS ON "JESUS OR JUDAS" AT LENTEN GATHERING.

Speaking before a crowd which comfortably filled the First Moravian Church Monday evening, Rev. Noel J. Breed preached on "Jesus and Judas." The united chorus from the seven churches leading the singing for the evening.

Three Points

The three points on which Rev. Breed based his sermon were "Why Jesus ever called Judas as a disciple," "Why Judas accepted," and "Why he stayed in during the Three Years." He dwelt upon the avarice and greed which had existed, the disappointment Jesus experienced in Judas and of Judas taking his sin with him when he should have left it outside. Rev. Breed told of the relations of Jesus and Judas at the Lord's supper and during the other years of their work.

Compares Judas

In closing Rev. Breed told his congregation that those who sold their Christian principles for personal gain were friends of Judas and compared those who go to church for personal gain to the betrayer of Christ.

Rev. Rockstroch speaks this evening on "Jesus and Peter."

PAYS UP BOARD BILL; RELEASED

DR. GALE APPEARS BEFORE JUDGE AND SETTLES FOR LODGING AND COSTS

Dr. A. C. Gale, who was arrested in Mauston on the complaint of the local authorities, on a warrant issued by D. J. Gerow of the Witter Hotel, charging him with jumping a board bill at the Witter amounting to $81.00, appeared before Judge P. Mainville Monday evening and paid the bill and costs amounting to $116.39. Deputy A. C. Miller had gone to Sparta to get Dr. Gale, returning with him on the evening train.

Gone Eleven Days

Dr. Gale was located in this city several weeks selling books on the lives of the presidents, and in company with his wife made his headquarters at the Witter Hotel during his stay in the city. While here he made several of the adjoining towns, where he would go and stay a few days at a time. According to Mr. Gerow he left here saying that he was to speak in the Necedah schools March 2nd, wiring back from there that he would be gone for a couple of days. Mr. Gerow began to suspect that he wasn't going to return when about ten days passed and the doctor failed to show up, and issued a warrant for his arrest.

Was Coming Back

When brought into court Gale stated that he was on his way back here to pay the bill when he was arrested at Mauston. He stated that when he reached Necedah he received a wire calling him to Chicago, and that he continued his journey to that city. He states that he wrote the local hotel man from Milwaukee but Mr. Gerow denies ever having received the letter. He also told the court that while at Mauston he told some traveling men who were coming to Grand Rapids to tell Mr. Gerow that he would be along and pay the bill, but the travelers evidently forgot to deliver the message as the word did not reach Grand Rapids, it is said.

Dr. Gale admitted that he had left and still owed a bill at the hotel, and paid the same with the costs in the action, the entire bill amounting to $116.39.

ADDRESSES LARGE CROWD AT NEKOOSA

WAUSAU DISTRICT ATTORNEY IN SPEECH BEFORE UNION MEN

Dist. Atty. Lippert, Socialist, was the principal speaker before gathering of union men, their families, residents of Nekoosa and Port Edwards, and farmers in the vicinity of Nekoosa in the first village Monday night.

Mr. Lippert spoke on the union labor question, socialism and economic topics. It is said by those present that his talk was of a highly conservative nature and that he was well received by the audience. The Lutheran band of this city furnished music for the program.

PRO RATE FUNDS LEFT ON MINNESOTA RELIEF

LOCAL MAN RETURNED ONE-THIRD OF DONATION MADE TO FIRE SUFFERERS

How honestly and systematically the committee organized in the fall of 1918 to aid sufferers in the Minnesota forest fires have worked, and showing that they have not forgotten those who aided them when they called for funds, is illustrated in a letter high Mike Mason of this city has just received from Thos. B. Mills, chairman of the committee, which enclosed a check for one-third of his donation. It explained that all of the funds were not used and as the work was completed they were returned that portion. The letter which Mr. Mason has received is as follows:

Superior, Wis.

Mr. Mike Mason, Grand Rapids, Wis.
Dear Sir:—In October, 1918, when thousands of citizens of Northern Minnesota, driven from their homes by the forest fire, came to Superior to be cared for temporarily, you were of those who gave to the fund for that purpose.

An organization was perfected and people of large experience in disaster work were secured and given charge of the relief. They finished their work in March last, and we have now carried out all their recommendations.

A portion of the fund has not been used and it belongs to those who gave it. We are enclosing a check for thirty per cent of your donation, according to our records; also a copy of our report, which includes an audited statement of receipts and disbursements.

On behalf of the men, women and children who were so sorely stricken and who have been fed, clothed, housed, given medical attention, equipped with furniture and other necessities thru your generosity, we sincerely thank you.

Yours truly,

Thos. B. Mills, Chairman.

JURY DISAGREES IN DUVAL-HANSON CASE

NO DECISION IN SECOND TRIAL OF MARSHFIELD OFFICER

The jury in the case of Fred Duval vs. William Hanson, which was tried yesterday afternoon in the Circuit Court was dismissed this morning by Judge Byron B. Park after an all-night session and a disagreement.

Hanson, who is an officer at Marshfield had arrested Duval and another in Marshfield about a year ago, holding the men on a charge of drunkenness. Duval brought the case against Hanson charging him with false imprisonment. The jury could not decide either way. The case against Hanson was tried last summer in the Circuit court and a similar disagreement resulted.

NEWSPAPERS COMBINE TO DO BUYING CHEAP

PUBLISHERS HAVE CO-OPERATIVE CONCERN IN ILLINOIS

Murphysboro, Ill.—Newspaper owners of Southern Illinois have formed a cooperative organization for the purchase of publishing materials. It is planned to buy large quantities of news print paper and other supplies, and distribute them thru a central agency.

The publishers assert such an organization is necessary to assure them of a sufficient supply of white paper. L. B. Shele, of Murphysboro, is president of the organization; W. E. Speckman, Metropolis, vice president; and C. W. Stafford, Marion, secretary and treasurer.

CHURCH NOTICE

The following will be the services at St. Peter & Paul's Catholic church for Sunday, March 21st.

Forty hours devotion Sunday morning.

First mass at 6:30 a. m.
High Mass at 8:30 a. m.
Third Mass at 10:30 a. m.
Societies will receive communion in a body during High Mass. A missionary Father from Chicago will give the sermons.

RESIGNS POSITION

William Withers, driver of the West Side Fire team, has resigned his position with the city. The vacancy in the department has not been filled to the present time.

RE-ELECT OLD SCHOOL BOARD

SHORT HARMONIOUS MEETING RESULTS IN COMPLETE RE-ELECTION

At the shortest and most harmonious school meeting held in recent years the former Commissioners were re-elected from each ward, the Board of Education remaining the same as it has been during the past year. The meeting was held Monday evening at the Lincoln high school and while some contests were anticipated in different wards and the attendance was unusually large, every commissioner was elected without opposition. The Commissioners are:

1st ward—A. D. Hill.
2nd ward—Jacob Searls.
3rd ward—Thea. W. Brazeau.
4th ward—Mrs. Wm. M. Ruckle.
5th ward—Carl Nord.
6th ward—Mrs. D. Waters.
7th ward—Mrs. B. L. Brown.
8th ward—Hugh Boles.
8th ward—James Nash.

T. A. Taylor was elected to serve as chairman of the meeting, and calling on Supt. Doudna the people assembled listened to the annual report of the head of the city schools, which in part said:

Saved Money

"The receipts for the year 1918-19 were $75,972.68. The budget for the year estimated the expense at $75,972.00. The actual expenses were $71,418.96, leaving a balance of $4,553.04 to be applied on indebtedness. In addition to this the city council added $2,177.17 to the budget to pay up the deficit of the previous year, 1917-18. In the past the Board of Education was carrying the deficit of the local Industrial Board of Education amounting to $5,887.00. This was repaid during the year and the finances of the Board separated. The total floating indebtedness of the schools was thus reduced $13,307.89. The savings were partly the result of a mild winter and the budget system adopted."

High School Cost Low

Mr. Doudna's report showed that the cost per pupil for education in the high school is low compared with the state average while the general average in the city is higher than the state average. The small attendance in some of the grade schools has increased the cost per pupil it was explained. The budget for this year he stated was $6,500 over last year but other cities of this size have increased their budget as much as $38,221.65 in Antigo, while Marshfield increased $12,000 and Stevens Point $8,895.00. The schools burn about eight hundred tons of coal, it was explained, the increased cost of fuel meaning quite an item.

Attendance Large

The present enrollment in the grades is a little more than one thousand and in the high school nearly five hundred, Mr. Doudna said, and compared with other cities of this size only two or three in the state exceed Grand Rapids in high school enrollment. It was explained that the growth in the enrollment of the schools might mean that the Irving school, which was closed last year, might have to be reopened to house the seventh and eighth grades of the east side next year, taking the eighth grade away from the high school. Mr. Doudna spoke of the reorganization of the Vocational work, the effect of the influenza epidemic on the attendance, the work of the Parent-Teachers' Associations, the Entre Nous Club and School Garden Army. The report was adopted with a vote of thanks to Mr. Doudna and the teachers.

NORMAL STUDENTS OUT TEACHING IN COUNTY

UNDER CLASSMEN TAKE VACATION WHILE OLDER STUDENTS TEACH

Thirty-three of the seniors at the Wood County Training School are substituting in the rural schools of Wood County this week in what is known as Cadet Week for the Seniors. While the upper classmen are out gaining their first actual teaching experience the under classmen are taking their spring vacation. Five teachers are supervising the work which the seniors are carrying on in the county, visiting the different schools and giving suggestions in the schools where they are needed.

HEAVY WINDS CAUSE DAMAGE THRUOUT CITY

BLOWS GABLE FROM NEW COMMUNITY BUILDING AT BIRON

A heavy wind storm which swept thru this portion of the state Monday evening and thruout the day blew down the north gable of the new Community Building at Biron during the night causing a damage of about $500 and delaying the work on the building about a week. Several large plate glass windows in buildings in the city were blown in during the night, telephone and electric light service was impaired, stacks were blown down, trees destroyed, trains delayed and a heavy property damage suffered by residents thruout Grand Rapids and the communities nearby.

Damaged New Building

The damage to the Biron Club was the heaviest that had been reported in the city. A. F. Billmyre, who is erecting the building, states that the damage will amount to about $500. The gable was of tile construction and was about forty feet in length and fourteen feet high. The gable had been constructed about three days ago and was braced, it being supposed that it would stand the heavy gale. The falling tile broke several joists in another portion of the roof, as well as the cornice around one part of the building.

Plate glass windows in the Wood County National Bank and the Nash Hardware Co. Warehouse were broken, the bank window collapsing Monday afternoon and the Nash window some time during the night. A portion of the storm house and a window at the Northwestern pool room was broken during the night.

Impaired Lines

According to M. N. Weeks, manager of the Electric Co., their lines were badly damaged by the storm, thirty-five or forty homes being cut off from electric service today as a result. The company has a crew of men at work repairing and hope to be connected up again today. Manager Smart of the telephone company reports that they escaped with little damage, a few lines being put out of order but that the long distance lines were all in operation.

Train Delayed

The Northwestern road reported their train No. 37 which is due here in the evening about eight, a freight, was delayed by the heavy winds and stayed at Red Granite for the night. A temporary roof of tar paper over the Jensen & Anderson garage was blown away by the heavy wind. A stack on the brewery was blown away during the night, a number of the shade trees along First Street north toward the Green Bay station as well as in other parts of the city being destroyed.

Stevens Point Suffered

A report which reached the Consolidated mill in this city stated that a portion of the roof of the Consolidated mill at Stevens Point had been blown off during the night. The report said that the parking room roof had suffered the damage and that it was necessary to discontinue work in that department temporarily. The same report stated that a portion of the roof of the Wisconsin River Pulp & Paper Co. mill had been blown off and that the Soq. Line coal sheds had been blown down there, indicating that the wind in that city was even more severe than the storm here.

At the Fred Brahmstead home on Tenth St., a storm window was blown a full block into the Fred Habek yard, the glass remaining unbroken. Mrs. G. S. Beardsley states that a storm window was blown off at her home and the glass broken to bits.

Visitors in this city from Marshfield state that they suffered heavily in that city, the Louis Laemie store front having been blown in and the display of goods destroyed.

THE WEATHER
* Generally fair except snow in *
* north portion tonight and in ex- *
* treme north portion Wednesday *
* Colder tonight and in east por- * * tion Wednesday; fresh to west *
* and northwest winds. *

GOOD ROADS

ROADS SHOW AT HOT SPRINGS

Active Preparations and Arrangement of Programs Have Commenced—Other Meetings.

The eighth annual convention of the United States Good Roads association, also the eighth annual good roads show, will be held in Hot Springs, Ark., April 12 to 17, 1920. Already active preparations and arrangement of the programs have commenced. J. A. Rountree, director general of the United States Good Roads association, has been invited to Hot Springs, Ark., for the purpose of consulting with the Business Men's league, the mayor, the various civic organizations and citizens in general, to discuss the program and details of arranging good roads week in Hot Springs, Ark., next April.

It is proposed to make good roads week the greatest gathering of good roads boosters that have ever assembled in this country. Delegates will be in attendance from every state in the Union. Already more than forty governors have accepted life membership in the organization and are vice presidents of the same.

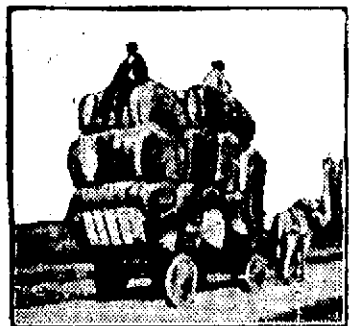

In connection with the organization the annual meeting of the Bankhead Highway, which is promoting a national highway from Washington to San Diego, Cal., the Albert Pike National Highway, which is promoting a highway from Pike's Peak to Kansas City, and a number of good roads organizations will hold meetings during good roads week in April.

One of the features of the convention will be a display of road machinery, road material, trucks, tractors and automobiles. Already six governors have notified Director General Rountree of their acceptance, and will head a large delegation from their respective states. It is expected to have at least twenty governors in attendance at this convention. Senator John H. Bankhead, who is president of the United States Good Roads association and author of the Bankhead federal aid bill of $85,000,000 annually for the building of good roads throughout the country, is quite enthusiastic about this meeting and gives assurance that the governors will send heads of the various departments to the meeting.

PROVE VALUE OF GOOD ROADS

Cotton Growers Quick to Realize Commercial Worth of Improved Highways in Hauling.

Southern cotton growers have been quick to realize the commercial value of good roads. Money invested in scientific road building is well spent, as witness the illustration, where a single team is hauling 12 bales, about 6,000 pounds, to market. Under former conditions, with mud hub deep the year around, the same team could haul but one bale, and that only hauled as fast.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Way the Southern Grower Hauls Cotton in These Days of Good Roads—In the Good Old Days One Bale Was the Limit.

PROGRESS IN FEDERAL ROADS

Total Mileage of Projects Approved in August Shows Increase Over Month of July.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

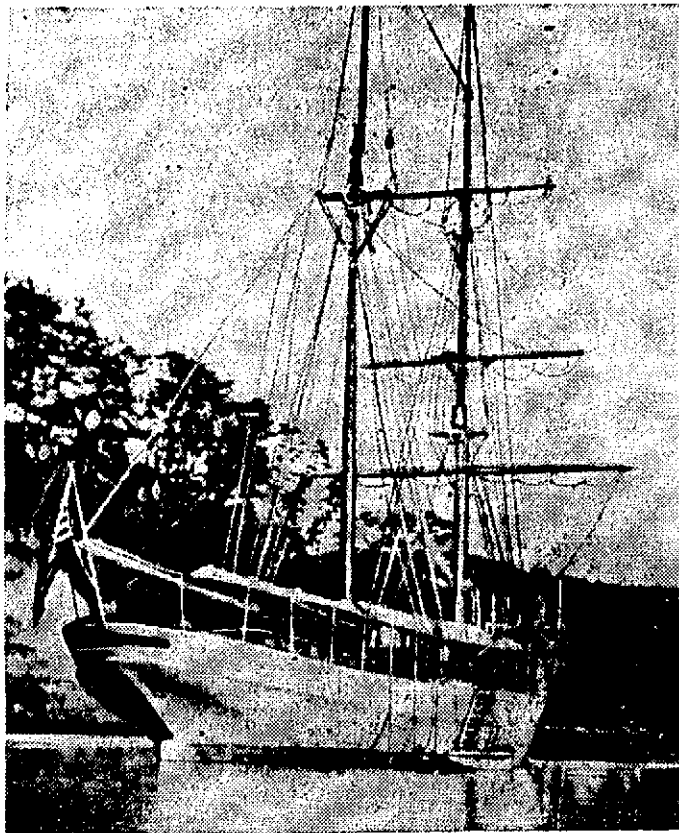

An increase for August compared with July in the total mileage of federal aid project statements approved by the secretary of agriculture is shown in the latest report prepared by the bureau of public roads, the total for August being 1,246.92 miles as against 1,163.66 miles for July. The 125 project statements approved in August involved improvement at an estimated total cost of $18,238,303.19, on which federal aid in the amount of $7,171,704.84 was requested. The 148 project statements approved in July involved improvement of highways at a total estimated cost of $19,012,480.85, on which federal aid to the amount of $8,461,671.68 was requested.

The man does not exist who cannot use Tribune Want Ads to his profit.

Green frogs are said to have an insatiable appetite for wasps.

Baptist Ship Is on Christianity Cruise

In and out among the hundreds of small islands in the Sea of Japan a little white ship threads its way on a never ending cruise of Christianity. It is the Church of the Fukui Maru, and it carries the gospel message to thousands who could not be reached in any other way.

The ship, like the itinerant preacher and the circuit rider of the old days, makes port in lonely out of the way places. It dispenses a hospitality that might well be envied by American churches with better advantages. Natives flock to hear the messages delivered on its deck.

The Fukui Maru is the only floating Baptist church in the world, and it is regarded by members of that denomination as one of the most unique efforts of the Christian missionary movement. For years it was commanded by Captain Luke Bickel, who recently died, and now the Northern Baptists are endeavoring to find a captain-preacher who will take his place.

There are 33 churches of the Baptist faith in Japan, with a total membership of 3,651. Plans have already been outlined, however, for the building of 15 new churches immediately and later to erect a church in every center of Baptist work.

"The people of Japan are ready to listen to the gospel," a recent report of the field survey committee of the Northern Baptist Convention says. "Their faith in the old religions is broken. But the gospel must be presented to them by men of their own race who are competent to present it in a strong, intelligent way. We must have thoroughly trained Japanese leaders and pastors who can command attention."

Careful consideration is being given the housing of the Christian church in Japan so as to win the respect of the people. "A rented store in a side street does not command the respect of the Japanese any more than it does of the Italians in New York," the report states. "Our fine institutional church building, the Tabernacle in Tokyo, ought to be duplicated at every important center, and attractive, dignified houses of worship should be erected at every other point."

The Baptists are endeavoring so far as possible to develop complete independence of the Japanese churches, under their own leaders.

PRESENT RESOLUTION

San Juan, P. R.—The federal grand jury has presented to Judge Hamilton a resolution asking that the use of the red flag as an emblem in public should be absolutely prohibited on this island. The jury requested that the authorities take steps to prevent the carrying of the flag in processions or its display in public places. It declared that the red flag was universally recognized as the emblem of anarchy always employed to incite disorder, and that it was being freely used here.

SIMPSON IN MOVIES

Columbia, Mo.—Robert I. (Bob) Simpson, track coach at the University of Missouri and world's champion high hurdler, is to be seen in moving pictures. Athletic experts are planning to take motion pictures of Simpson in an exhibition race, the pictures to be used in instructing others.

WE OFFER—

A few shares Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co. stock. Price on application.

GILBERT. EVANS & CO.
Wausau, Wis.

HORSES

One carload of Young Mares and Horses.
Every horse guaranteed as represented.

Alex Norris

Barn Next to Weisel's Warehouse
2nd St. North.

SPANISH WOULD PLAY POLO WITH STATES

Philadelphia—Spain in anxious to meet the United States at polo according to Marquis de Villavega, of Madrid, captain of King Alfonso's polo team, who is visiting here.

As one of Spain's expert players, the Marquis was well versed in polo lore and eagerly discussed the championship won by England from the American team in the 1914 international match.

"I will tell you something new of that," he said. "The English team that won the games had horses loaned by the King of Spain. When the contest was announced, the English, knowing the Americans would have opportunity to practice in the south during the winter, accepted the invitation from the King to practice on the Madrid field. While they were there the King lent them ponies from his own stables. Fourteen of those ponies they brought to America with them to meet the American team."

ENGINEER TAKES ENGINE

Berlin—As instancing the laxity with which the Prussian state railways are now administered the Tageblatt cites the case of a Bremen engineer who took an idle engine and rode to a point nearby to buy yeast for his wife and to visit his aunt. Then he returned the engine to the Bremen roundhouse.

H. T. CORY

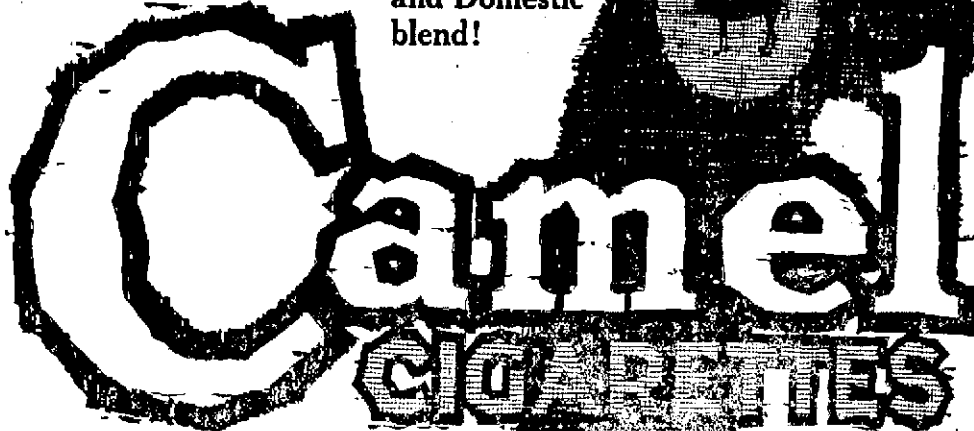

H. T. Cory, a California engineer, has been made the third member of a board of experts which will appraise the waters of the Nile for irrigation.

I'M WELL!
YOU WELL?

STERIZOL PREVENTS DISEASE

As sure as you are a foot high—

you will like this Camel Turkish and Domestic blend!

YOU never got such cigarette-contentment as Camels hand you. Camels quality and expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic Tobaccos make this goodness possible—and make you prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Camels mellow-mildness is a revelation! Smoke them with freedom without tiring your taste! They leave no unpleasant cigarette aftertaste nor unpleasant cigarette odor!

Give Camels every test—then compare them puff-for-puff with any cigarette in the world!

The Swift Dollar

The Swift Dollar shows you what becomes of the money we get for meat and all by-products.

It is interesting to study and to show to others, and helps you to understand the outstanding and fundamental fact of the packing business—a small unit profit on a large volume of sales.

It is light, the size of a dollar, and makes a satisfactory pocket piece.

One was made for you.
Send for it.

Swift & Company

Union Stock Yards
Chicago, Ill.

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes for 20 cents, or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

R. J. REYNOLDS
TOBACCO CO.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

The VALLEY of the GIANTS

By PETER B. KYNE
Author of
"Cappy Ricks"

Copyright by Peter B. Kyne

This story in motion pictures with Wallace Reid will be shown at the Palace March 23-24.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Pioneer in the California redwood region, John Cardigan, at forty-seven, is the leading citizen of Sequoia, a town of 1000 people, and many acres of timber. A widower after three years of married life, and father of two-day-old Bryce Cardigan.

CHAPTER II.—At fourteen Bryce makes the acquaintance of Shirley Sumner, a visitor to Sequoia, and his junior by a few years. Together they visit the Valley of the Giants, sacred to John Cardigan and his son as the burial place of Bryce's mother, and part with mutual regret.

CHAPTER III.—While Bryce is at college John Cardigan meets with heavy business losses and for the first time views the future with uncertainty.

CHAPTER IV.—After graduation from college, and a trip abroad, Bryce Cardigan comes home. On the train he meets Shirley Sumner, on her way to Sequoia to make her home there with her uncle, Col. Pennington. Bryce learns that Col. Pennington is seeking to take advantage of the old man's business misfortune.

CHAPTER V.—In the Valley of the Giants young Cardigan finds a tree felled directly across his mother's grave. Indications are that it was cut down to secure the burl, and evidence seems to show that Pennington and his woods-boss, Jules Rondeau, are implicated in the outrage.

CHAPTER VI.—Dining with Col. Pennington and his niece, Bryce finds the room paneled with redwood burl, confirming his suspicions. After a diplomatic way, unperceived by Shirley, the two men declare war.

There was no mistaking the veiled threat behind that apparently innocent observation, and the Colonel, being a man of more than ordinary astuteness, realized that at last he must place his cards on the table. "Yes," he said, "I would be rather disappointed. However, I pay Rondeau rather more than it is customary to pay woods-bosses; so I imagine he'll stay—unless, of course, somebody takes a notion to run him out of the country. And when that happens, I want to be on hand to view the spectacle."

Bryce sprinkled a modicum of salt in his soup. "I'm going up into Township nine to-morrow afternoon," he remarked casually. "I think I shall go over to your camp and pay the incomparable Jules a brief visit."

Again the Colonel assimilated the hint, but preferred to dissemble. "Oh, you can't steal him from me, Cardigan," he laughed. "I warn you in advance—so spare yourself the effort."

"I'll try anything once," Bryce retorted with equal good nature. "However, I don't want to steal him from you. I want to ascertain from him where he procured this burl."

"He wouldn't tell you," the Colonel said.

"He might. I'm a persuasive little cuss when I choose to exert myself."

"Rondeau is not communicative. He requires lots of persuading."

"What delicious soup!" Bryce murmured blandly. "Miss Sumner, may I have a cracker?"

The dinner passed pleasantly; the challenge and defiance between guest and host had been so skillfully and gracefully exchanged that Shirley hadn't the slightest suspicion that these two well-groomed men had, under her very nose, as it were, agreed to be enemies and then, for the time being, turned their attention to other and more trifling matters. A sprightly three-cornered conversation continued for an hour. Then the Colonel, secretly enraged at the calm, mocking, contemplative glances which Bryce ever and anon bestowed upon him, and unable to convince himself that he was too apprehensive—that this cool young man knew nothing and would do nothing even if he knew something—rose, pleaded the necessity for looking over some papers, and bade Bryce good-night. Foolishly he proffered Bryce a limp hand; and a demon of devilry taking possession of the latter, he squeezed it with a simple, hearty earnestness, the while he said:

"Colonel Pennington, I hope I do not have to assure you that my visit here this evening has not only been delightful but—instructive. Good-night, sir, and pleasant dreams."

With difficulty the Colonel suppressed a groan. However, he was not the sort of man who suffers in silence; for a minute later the butler, leaning over the banisters as his master climbed the stairs to his library, heard the latter curse with an eloquence that was singularly appealing.

CHAPTER VII.

Colonel Seth Pennington looked up sourly as a clerk entered his private office. "Well?" he demanded brusquely. When addressing his employees, the Colonel seldom bothered to assume his pontifical manner.

"Mr. Bryce Cardigan is waiting to see you, sir."

"Very well. Show him in," Bryce entered. "Good morning, Colonel," he said pleasantly, and brazenly thrust out his hand.

"Not for me, my boy," the Colonel assured him. "I had enough of that last night. We'll just consider the hand-shaking all attended to, if you please. Have a chair; sit down and tell me what I can do to make you happy."

"I'm delighted to find you in such a generous frame of mind, Colonel. You can make me genuinely happy by renewing, for ten years on the same terms as the original contract, your arrangement to freight the logs of the Cardigan Redwood Lumber company from the woods to Tidewater."

Colonel Pennington cleared his throat with a propitiatory "Ahem-mm!" Then he removed his gold spectacles and carefully wiped them with a silk handkerchief, as carefully replaced them upon his aristocratic nose, and then gazed curiously at Bryce.

"My dear young friend! My very dear young friend! I must protest at being asked to discuss this matter. Your father and I have been over it in detail; we failed to agree, and that settles it."

"I did not expect you to agree to my request. I am not quite that optimistic," Bryce replied evenly. "I thought that possibly, if I reopened negotiations you might have a reasonable counter-proposition to suggest."

"I haven't thought of any."

"I suppose if I agreed to sell you that quarter-section of timber in the little valley over yonder (he pointed to the east) and the natural outlet for your Squaw creek timber, you'd quickly think of one," Bryce suggested pointedly.

"No, I am not in the market for that Valley of the Giants, as your idealistic father prefers to call it. The possession of that big timber is an advantage I expect to enjoy before I acquire many more gray hairs. But I do not expect to pay for it."

"Do you expect me to offer it to you as a bonus for renewing our hauling contract?"

The Colonel snapped his fingers. "By George," he declared, "that's a bright idea, and a few months ago I would have been inclined to consider it very seriously. But now—"

"You figure you've got us winging, eh?" Bryce was smiling pleasantly.

"I am making no admissions," Pennington responded enigmatically. "—nor any hauling contracts for my neighbor's logs," he added.

"I suppose I'll have to abandon logging in Township nine and go back to the San Hedrin," Bryce sighed resignedly.

"If you do, you'll go broke. You can't afford it. You're on the verge of insolvency this minute."

"I suppose, since you decline to haul our logs, after the expiration of our present contract, and in view of the fact that we are not financially able to build our own logging railroad, that the wisest course my father and I could pursue would be to sell our timber in Township nine to you. It adjoins your holdings in the same township."

"I had a notion the situation would begin to dawn upon you," the Colonel was smiling now; his handsome face was gradually assuming the expression of a thousand feet stumped for it.

"I'm afraid I can't accept that offer. We paid a dollar and a half for it, you know, and if we sold it to you at a dollar, the sale would not bring us sufficient money to take up our bonded indebtedness; we'd only have the San Hedrin timber and the Valley of the Giants left, and since we cannot log either of these at present, naturally we'd be out of business."

"That's the way I figured it, my boy."

"Well—we're not going out of business."

"Pardon me for disagreeing with you, I think you are."

"Not much! We can't afford it."

"My dear boy, my very dear young friend, listen to me. Your paternal ancestor is the only human being who has ever succeeded in making a perfect monkey of me. When I wanted to purchase from him a right of way through his absurd Valley of the Giants, in order that I might log my Squaw creek timber, he refused me. And to add insult to injury, he spotted a lot of rot about his big trees, how much they meant to him, and the utter artistic horror of running a logging-train through the grove—particularly since he planned to bequeath it to Sequoia as a public park."

"I will not renew your logging contract. That is final, young man. No man can ride me with spurs and get away with it."

"Oh, I knew that yesterday."

"Then why have you called on me today, taking up my time on a dead issue?"

"I wanted to give you one final chance to repent. I know your plan. You have it in your power to smash the Cardigan Redwood Lumber company, acquire it at fifty per cent of its value and merge its assets with your Laguna Grande Lumber company. You are an ambitious man. You want to be the greatest redwood manufacturer in California, and in order to achieve your ambitions, you are willing to ruin a competitor: you decline to play the game like a thoroughbred."

"I play the game of business according to the rules of the game; I do nothing illegal, sir."

"And nothing generous or chivalrous. Colonel, you know your plan of a shortage of rolling-stock is that the contract for hauling our logs has been

"I Will Not Renew Your Logging Contract."

very profitable and will be more profitable in the future if you will accept a fifty-cent-per-thousand increase on the freight rate and renew the contract for ten years."

"Nothing doing, young man. Remember, you are not in a position to ask favors."

"Then I suppose we'll have to go down fighting?"

"I do not anticipate much of a fight."

"And I'll begin by running your woods-boss out of the country."

"Ah-h!"

"You know why, of course—those burl gables in your dining room. Rondeau felled a tree in our Valley of the Giants to get that burl for you, Colonel Pennington."

Pennington flushed. "I defy you to prove that," he almost shouted.

"Very well. I'll make Rondeau confess; perhaps he'll even tell me who sent him after the burl. Upon my word, I think you inspired that dastardly raid. At any rate, I know Rondeau is guilty, and you, as his employer and the beneficiary of his crime, must accept the odium."

The Colonel's face went white. "I do not admit anything except that you appear to have lost your head, young man. However, for the sake of argument, granting that Rondeau felled that tree, he did it under the apprehension that your Valley of the Giants is a part of my Squaw creek timber adjoining."

"I do not believe that. There was malice in the act—brutality, even; for my mother's grave identified the land as ours, and Rondeau felled the tree on her tombstone."

"If that is so, and Rondeau felled that tree—I do not believe he did—I am sincerely sorry, Cardigan. Name your price and I will pay you for the tree."

"You can't pay for that tree," Bryce burst forth. "No pitiful human being can pay in dollars and cents for the wanton destruction of God's handiwork. You wanted that burl, and when my father was blind and could no longer make his Sunday pilgrimage up to that grove, your woods-boss went up and stole that which you knew you could not buy."

"That will be about all from you, young man. Get out of my office. And, by the way, forget that you have met my niece."

"It's your office—so I'll get out. As for your second command," he snapped his fingers in Pennington's face—"fooye!"

When Bryce had gone, the Colonel hurriedly called his logging-camp on the telephone and asked for Jules Rondeau. Only to be informed by the timekeeper who answered the telephone, that Rondeau was up in the green timber with the choppers and could not be gotten to the telephone in less than two hours.

"Do not send for him, then," Pennington commanded. "I'm coming up on the eleven-fifteen train and will talk to him when he comes in for his lunch."

At eleven o'clock, and just as the Colonel was leaving to board the eleven-fifteen logging-train bound empty for the woods, Shirley Sumner made her appearance in his office.

"Uncle Seth," she complained, "I'm homesick. The bookkeeper tells me you're going up to the logging-camp. May I go with you?"

"By all means. Usually I ride in the cab with the engineer and fireman; but if you're coming, I'll have them hook on the caboose. Step lively, my dear, or they'll be holding the train for us and upsetting our schedule."

By virtue of their logging-contract with Pennington, the Cardigans and their employees were transported free over Pennington's logging railroad; hence, when Bryce Cardigan resolved to wait upon Jules Rondeau in the matter of that murdered Giant, it was characteristic of him to choose the shortest and most direct route to his quarry, and as the long string of empty logging-trains came crawling off the Laguna Grande Lumber company's log-dump, he swung over the side, quite ignorant of the fact that Shirley and her precious relative were riding in the little caboose in the rear.

At twelve-thirty the train slid in on the log landing.

"Where's Rondeau?" Bryce asked. The engineer pointed to a huge, swarthy man approaching across the clearing in which the camp was situated. "That's him," he replied. And without further ado, Bryce strode to meet his man.

"Are you Jules Rondeau?" he demanded as he came up to the woods-boss. The latter nodded. "I'm Bryce Cardigan," his interrogator announced, "and I'm here to thrash you for chopping that big redwood tree over in that little valley where my mother is buried."

"Oh!" Rondeau smiled. "Wiz pleasure, M'sieur." And without a moment's hesitation he rushed. Bryce backed away from him warily, and they circled.

"When I get through with you, Rondeau," Bryce said distinctly, "I'll take a good man to lead you to your meals. This country isn't big enough for both of us, and since you came here last, you've got to go first."

Bryce stepped in, feinted for Rondeau's jaw with his right, and when the woods-boss quickly recovered, ripped a sizzling left into the latter's midriff. Rondeau grunted and dropped his guard, with the result that Bryce's great fists played a devil's tattoo on his countenance before he could crouch and cover.

"This is a tough one," thought Bryce. His blows had not, apparently, had the slightest effect on the woods-boss. Crouched low and with his arms wrapped around his head, Rondeau still came on unflinchingly, and Bryce was forced to give way before him; to save his hands, he avoided the risk of battering Rondeau's hard head and sneaky arms.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Already word that the woods-boss was battling with a stranger had been shouted into the camp dining room, and the entire crew of that camp, abandoning their half-finished meal, came pouring forth to view the contest. Out of the tall of his eye Bryce saw them coming, but he was not apprehensive, for he knew the code of the woodsman: "Let every man roll his own hoop." It would be a fight to a finish, for no man would interfere; striking, kicking, gouging, biting, or choking would not be looked upon as unsportsmanlike; and as Bryce backed cautiously away from the huge, lithe, active, and powerful man before him, he realized that Jules Rondeau was, as his father had stated, "top dog among the lumberjacks."

Rondeau, it was apparent, had no stomach for Bryce's style of combat. He wanted a rough-and-tumble fight and kept rushing, hoping to clinch; if he could but get his great hands on Bryce, he would wrestle him down.

Grand Rapids Daily Tribune

WILLIAM F. HUFFMAN
Publisher

Tuesday, March 16, 1920

Entered as second class matter May 25th, 1914, at the postoffice at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Member of The Associated Press and Wisconsin Daily League. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published here.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
By Carrier—Anywhere in the city of Grand Rapids, Nekoosa, Port Edwards or Biron, 15 cents a week, payable to carrier boy every Saturday morning.

Published every afternoon except Sunday at 228 2nd St. So. Phone 394.

THE POOR MALES.
Down in William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., the male student registered a protest vote against the retaining of women students in the institution, offering as their reason that they could not sit still and concentrate on their studies, with a bunch of girls in the class rooms. The poor boys, the same boys who went through the high schools with girls, on the right of them, girls on the left of them and girls behind them whispering and tattle-begging.

Now they want to throw the women out of the college because the girls detract their attention from their studies. When men and women were put on the earth, we are told that they were expected to cooperate and help one another and here we have discrimination. The same old holler goes up in all institutions, when the males come into their college independence.

Give the girl a couple years more at William Jewell College and they will have all the boys in captivity. Then the college will change from an educational institution to a matrimonial institution. Oh! The poor males.

LOCAL GIRL HONORED IN CHICAGO CONTEST

FLORENCE PAYNE MENTIONED IN HAT TRIMMING MATCH

Miss Florence Payne, daughter of Chief of Police and Mrs. Roland S. Payne, of the South Side, was honored in the Herald-Examiner Contest, recently conducted by that paper in Hat Trimming. The paper printed a hat and the materials which could be used to trim it with and opened a contest to their readers in trimming the hat. Several thousand were entered and twenty given prizes of new Easter hats. While there were only twenty prizes awarded there was a list of one hundred of the several thousands who entered, printed in the Examiner, Miss Payne's name being included in the list getting honorable mention. Miss Payne is a student at the Lincoln high school, being a sophomore there.

TEAM WITH BIG CROWD WINS ASSOCIATION CUP

MINORS OFFER PRIZE TO BOOST OPENING ATTENDANCE.

Chicago—Competition in the American Association to have the largest crowd on opening day should be keen this season. The league has offered a handsome silver loving cup to be awarded to the club which draws the greatest number of fans at the initial games on their home grounds.

The cup which is of sterling silver stands 22 inches tall. The silver part of the cup is 18 inches high and the mahogany base, upon which it stands is 4 inches.

The cup has just been received by Thomas J. Hickey, president of the league, who has announced its itinerary. It will first be sent to Milwaukee where it will be on exhibition during the week of March 15. The following week it will be shown in Kansas City, then Indianapolis and Louisville. The opening games of the season are to be played in these cities. The cup then will be shown for a week in Toledo, Columbus, Minneapolis, and St. Paul, so that the fans in those cities will have an opportunity to see it before clubs open at home.

The cup is handsomely engraved with the following inscription:

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION CUP
Largest Opening Day Attendance,
1920

Won by.....
There is ample space below the inscription for the name of the club who wins it.

Entertained At Bridge—
Leland Johnson, First Avenue South, entertained a party of his friends at bridge Monday evening. At the close of several games, Neil Nash was awarded high honors.

Pillow Case Club—
The Pillow Case Club will meet with Mrs. Hugh Goggins, Third St. South, Wednesday evening.

CHILDREN'S MATINEE
PALACE THURSDAY 4 P. M.
5 AND 15 CENTS
BIG BILL HART

TRIBUNE LETTER BOX

March 15, 1920.

To the Editor,
The Daily Tribune,
Grand Rapids, Wis.

Dear Sir:—Will you please allow me the privilege of stating thru your columns our very deep regret that the concert of the Ripon College Glee Club should occur during the weeks of special services held by the churches of Grand Rapids. Our arrangement was made without any knowledge on our part of the meetings which were to be held and we did not learn of the meetings at all until after the contract with the theater management had been made and considerable expense incurred for the printing of advertising material, and it was too late to secure another engagement on the route so as to take care of the expenses of the railroad fare on the way to the next engagement. Under the circumstances, we want to cooperate with the churches in every way possible and will therefore make the time of opening our concert 8:30, or later, in order not to conflict with the services.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth Battle Bintliff.

EXPECT TO DEVELOP WATER POWER SITES

RAPIDS AND FALLS ON NORTHERN STREAMS TO BE HARNESSED

Recent predictions that the water power site at Gardner Dam, near Antigo, would be developed within the next two or three years, has renewed interest in that section of the state in regard to developing the power along the Wolf River.

The electrical power that can be developed on this stream, it is estimated, is sufficient to meet existing and future needs of all the cities in its watershed with much to spare.

The Wolf river is swift and turbulent over the greater part of its course from Pine lake, where it rises, near the Soo bridge in Forest county, almost to the city of Shawano.

Many Tributaries

Between its source and Shawano the river receives numerous tributaries—Swamp creek, which is the outlet of Sand, Stone and Hemlock lakes; the Pickerel and Lily rivers; Nine Mile Creek and the Hunting, Evergreen and Little Wolf rivers.

The first good dam site below Pine lake is at Lower Post lake, where an old wooden flow control dam is still maintained. This provides a head of about 10 feet that could be increased to about 28 feet by extending the flume 100 rods.

Offers Other Sites

Another site for a dam is presented at the confluence of the Lily and Wolf rivers where at least an eight-foot head could be materially increased by lengthening the flume. It has been proposed to create a head of 90 feet at Gardner dam and one of from 45 to 50 feet could be secured in the delta of the Wolf river. Other possible dam sites are at Langlade, Smoky Falls, Big Eddy and Keshena Falls.

In addition to offering numerous sites for power plants with abundant head, the Wolf river with its tributaries also provides opportunities for developing reservoirs which will insure a regulated and adequate flow.

UPHOLD SLAYER

Racine, Wis.—Killed by a bullet from the revolver of an unknown officer shooting in self-defense and in the discharge of his duty was the verdict of a jury at a coroner's inquest to determine the cause of death of Barney Sekat, killed in a shooting affray last week, when federal officers and local officers raided Eekat's saloon.

The revolver which Sekat is alleged to have used has not been found. His father, Mike, who attempted to protect his son, declared at the inquest that his son did not have a revolver and did not fire at the officers, but the police declared that the father had obtained the revolver after the shooting and thrown it away.

Joseph Jerzak, of Stevens Point, is among today's business visitors.

BOOST for Grand Rapids.

BODETTE'S WIN ONE FROM PORT EDWARDS

ROLL GOOD SCORE IN DOWNING PAPER MAKER BOWLERS

The Bodette team rolled a total of 2579 on the Elks Alleys last night winning from the Port Edwards team by a margin of eighty pins. Bodette went over the two hundred mark in the second and third games, Middlecamp of the same team rolling 210 in the last game. Bodette had an average of 194 with his rolling for the three games. The scores were:

Port Edwards.
Luelke	197	155	184
Alexander	177	182	147
Mericale	163	178	154
Leroux	155	181	135
Jackson	163	151	177
			2499

Bodette's.
Bodette	154	224	204
Hein	158	146	162
Middlecamp	158	167	210
Smith	138	182	179
Perrodin	167	162	168
			2579

Tonight Normingtons vs. Johnson & Hill Co.

WANT $1.50 PER HOUR

Cleveland, O.—When their old contracts expire April 30, electrical workers here will ask $1.50 an hour and a forty-hour week, according to J. A. Groves, financial secretary of Local No. 38, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the largest of five electrical unions in the city. About 1,000 men will be effected. The present scale is $1 an hour for forty-eight hours, and time and one-half for overtime.

PERSONAL MENTION

T. A. Taylor was a business visitor in Wausau Tuesday.

Peter Urbanowski of Stevens Point is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Dudley of Wauwabe is in the city today.

J. Peterson of St. Paul, is a business visitor in the city today.

Samuel Winch of Marshfield, is among the business visitors in the city today.

Chester and Leona Urbanski of Stevens Point are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Klappa, Arbor street.

Conductor Frank Welby, who has been spending a few days at his home here, will go back on his run tomorrow on the morning train to Green Bay.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

FOR SALE—2 cars in good running order. Phone Blue 838. 3-16-17

FOR SALE—3 stoves—2 soft coal burners, 1 hard coal burner. 4 dining room chairs oak and dining.

WANTED—Two First-Class moulders. Wages 70 cents per hour. Write or phone Wausau Foundry and Machine Co. 3-16-17-18

LOST—Friday morning, between here and Nekoosa on the 8:30 street car, a brown pocket book, containing a sum of money and 3 keys. If finder will return the keys he may have pocket book and money. Telephone 221 or Telephone Green 940. If room table. Phone Red 1173. 3-16

Open Health Doors

Energy and strength (health) can not enter unless the channels are open. If you are sick, your nerve energy is not moving as it should. Free the nerve paths of pressure at the spine, that the brain energy may reach the starved organs, and give them working power. Chiropractic adjustments open the nerve, and health, doors.

Ask The Chiropractor.

W. C. WEIRICK, D. C.

Wood Block (over Post-office) Phone 162

BANK MANAGER HURT IN WRECK AT OSHKOSH

WASHOUT ON MAIN LINE DE-RAILS COACHES AND INJURES SEVERAL

(By Associated Press)

Oshkosh, March 16—It developed today that among those requiring hospital treatment on account of injuries received in the derailment of Northwestern train No. 116, south of Oshkosh yesterday Reid D. Murray, former manager of the Old Commercial National Bank of this city was the most seriously injured. It has been found he had several ribs broken and possibly other internal injuries, he being thrown against the side of the passenger coach when it was turned over into the creek which washed out a culvert at the scene of the accident. All of the others of the dozen persons taken to the hospital have minor injuries, mostly bruises and cuts from broken glass and will be able to leave for their homes in a day or two.

Up to noon today the overturned cars and damaged track had not been cleaned away. Northwestern trains since the accident have been detouring on the Soo line which parallels the Northwestern between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

SHALK HARD WORKER

Chicago—Ray Schalk, the crack catcher of the White Sox, American league champions, expects to complete his one thousandth major league game before the summer is over. The plucky little backstop now is within about 40 games of that mark. This record has been made in less than eight years.

Schalk is regarded as the best catcher in the majors, his closest rivals being Bill Killefer of the Chicago Cubs and Steve O'Neill of the Cleveland Indians.

Few big league catchers have reached the one thousandth mark.

Schalk is of the type that keeps on working all the time, seldom taking a rest, and then only when he is forced out of the game thru injury.

B. W. Sweeney of Fond du Lac, is a business visitor in the city today.

Mrs. B. G. Gardner, Second Ave. N. returned Tuesday from a visit at Stevens Point. Mrs. Gardner was accompanied home by her niece, Mrs. Carl Linda.

John Pritzel, Third Ave. S., spent Sunday at Marshfield.

C. W. Perry of Chicago is in the city today.

News From The J. C. PENNEY CO. Of Our City

The J. C. Penny Co. are pleased to announce to the public of Grand Rapids and vicinity that Grand Rapids has been selected as one of the towns to receive one of the ONE HUNDRED NEW STORES to be added to their chain of already ONE HUNDRED NINETY-SEVEN making a total of TWO HUNDRED NINETY-SEVEN busy stores.

Our organization began its career in 1902 with one lone store which was at Kemerer, Wyo. From that lone store we have grown to our present chain of 297 stores which is a record unmatched in the Mercantile field.

The biggest reason for our wonderful success is that we have at all times dealt fairly with all our customers and that through our buying power of 297 stores we have been able to buy direct from the manufacturers, we buy for cash which enables us to get all cash discounts available, and sell strictly for cash and only one price to everybody.

Our buying power, which enables us to buy from manufacturers, does away with all middlemen's profits. These are a few of the reasons why we offer you better merchandise for less money.

Remember that the J. C. Penny Co. never buys seconds or bankrupt stock but that our merchandise is all fresh direct from the manufacturers.

Our buyers live in New York and are watching the markets every day for the newest creations in Mens, Young Mens, and Ladies Ready-to-Wear. As soon as new things appear on the markets they buy and distribute them to our many stores. Therefore we can and will always show you the newest styles first.

We realize that in order to have your trade we must have your confidence, and to hold your confidence we must make good what we say. We are here to stay and build up a trade and a place where the people will know that we are daily cooperating with them to bring down the HIGH COST OF LIVING.

You will find this a store where your children are treated with the same courtesy as yourself.

We hope to be able to open about April 15th, at the latest.

J. C. PENNEY CO.

Notice

Beginning Wednesday,
March 17th, the G. B. & W.
trains Nos. 3 and 4 will be reinstated.

Grand Rapids Daily Tribune

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

All Classified Ads Must be Paid for in Cash—No ad for Less Than 25 Cents For One Time. Based on five words to line.

1 line.....7c per line
2 lines.....6c per line
3 lines.....5c per line
4 lines.....4c per line
5 lines.....3c per line
No ad taken for less than two lines or less than 25c for one time.
These rates effective on and after October 8, 1919.

HELP WANTED

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Mrs. S. Steinberg. tf

SALES LADY WANTED—For Drygoods and Ready-to-Wear. Some one with good experience and that lives in Grand Rapids. J. C. Penny Company. 88-17

WANTED—Man and wife to take charge of and run Boarding House at Nekoosa. For further particulars inquire of F. H. Rosebush, Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co. 2-20

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—An 8 room house. Call 683. 3-19

FOR SALE—Nine room house, barn and garage. 1072 4th St. S. Tel. 207. 3-18w18

FOR SALE—A 6 room house, barn and hen house on Second St. North. Telephone 373. 3-18

REAL ESTATE for sale or exchange—List your property with Dan McConnell, 11 13th Ave. S. 4-1

HOUSE FOR SALE on Oak street, eight rooms pavement in front of the house. Water upstairs and down and electric lights. Practically a new house. A bargain if taken at once. Phone 600. E. T. McCarty. 3-8tf

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Six room house on west side, not far from Grand Ave. All modern improvements including furnace. Tel. Blue 1019. 3-15tf

MISCELLANEOUS

FURNITURE crating and packing promptly done. Phone 1076 or 226. 4-5-8-10-12-16-18

LOST—Between Leader office and John Hammer residence a Knight Templar charm. Return same to Leader office and receive reward. 3-8tf

NOTICE

Beginning Wednesday, March 16th, the G. B. & W. trains Nos. 3 and 4 will be reinstated. 3-15 and 16

ELECTION NOTICE

Registration day is the second Tuesday before election, March 23, 1920. Inspectors of election are hereby notified to be present at their respective polling places. The east side wards registration will be at the Library building and the west side wards registration will be at the west side fire station. Hours of registration will be between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m.

F. G. Gilkey, City Clerk.
3-16-18-20-23w3-18

REV. HOGAN HERE.

Rev. Hogan, of Stevens Point, pastor of St. Stephen's church in that city, will speak to the Rotarians at their regular luncheon Wednesday noon. Fr. Hogan will be a guest of Rev. Reding while in this city. The subject of his address will be on Rotary, Rev. Hogan being a Rotarian.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Skat Tournament

The regular Skat Tournament will be held at the Elks Club tonight when all the Skat players in the city are invited to enter and make the entries as large as possible.

Masons Had Dinner

The Royal Arch Masons entertained at a 6:30 o'clock dinner for their members at the Masonic Temple on Monday evening. Following the dinner they held their regular business meeting and initiated Fred Haertel, Dean Babcock, and A. A. Heger.

Ladies Aid to Meet

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church will meet with Mrs. H. J. DeBuhr, Third Ave. S. on Wednesday afternoon.

Will Have Program

The Ladies Aid of SS. Peter & Paul's Catholic church will hold a social session and St. Patrick program at Catholic Societies Hall Wednesday afternoon.

PERSONAL MENTION

Attorney D. D. Conway has returned from Orient, S. D., where he was called several days ago on business. Mr. Conway states that there is no snow whatever there now and that the cattle are grazing in the fields. Mr. Conway expects to return there in about a week.

Edw. Kennedy, one of the veteran mail carriers of the county, whose home is at Auburndale, was a business caller at the court house Monday.

Miss Mary Waterman will leave Wednesday for Sheridan, Wyoming, where she has been called by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Edw. Conley.

Bernice Eggert, Third St. S., who has been visiting friends at Rockford, Ill., the past few days, returns home this evening.

Walter Vaught of Sigel is in the city today.

Michael Griffin, chief of police of Marshfield, was in the city Monday. R. Connor of Marshfield, is a business visitor in the city today.

Atty. R. R. Williams of Marshfield, attended legal business at the court house Monday.

M. H. Michelson of Darlington, is in the city today.

Frank Hiles of, Dexterville spent Tuesday in the city on business.

Edward Morris, county highway commissioner, is spending the day at Arpin on business.

Atty. C. B. Edwards of Marshfield, is here in the city trying a case before the circuit court.

Mrs. C. W. Bhett, who has been visiting friends at Stevens Point, returned home Monday.

Miss Ruth Kinney of Nekoosa is visiting friends at Milwaukee this week.

Mrs. R. M. Dennis of Fort Dodge, Iowa, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Billings of Nekoosa.

Atty. Wayne Demming of Marshfield, is a business visitor in the city today.

Mr. Harnaly of Minneapolis, was among the business visitors in the city Monday.

Mrs. S. Steinberg and Mrs. Joe Epstein, who spent Sunday with friends at Merrill, returned home Monday evening.

C. Conapy of Milwaukee is in the city today.

Henry Wendalls of Green Bay, is transacting business here today.

Mrs. Whitehorn of Vesper was a shopper here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Lippert of Wausau were guests at the A. C. Ott home on Monday. Mr. Lippert spoke at a Union meeting at Nekoosa Monday evening.

R. M. Rogers, Third St. S., left Monday evening for Chicago on business.

H. M. Hagen, Grand Forks, N. D., was here from Spokane, Wash., enroute to Kankakee, Ill., where he will be associated with J. C. Penney Co. He is a brother of Joe G. Hagan, manager of the local Penney store.

C. S. Lowe was called to serve as a jurymen at the Spring Term of court at Grand Rapids.

Joe McConnell was buried at Meadow Valley on March 8th. Rev. O'Neil of Nekoosa conducted the funeral services. Deceased had been sick for over a year. About two weeks ago he was operated on at the Mayo Bros.

hospital at Rochester, Minn., for trouble and died on Thursday, March 4th, in Minnesota. Joe was well known here and liked by all having been a resident of Daly for many years. He leaves to mourn his death a wife and three children, they being Gladys, Howard, and Melba. A father and mother and three brothers, James of Daly, Chas. and Wilson of Meadow Valley, and one sister, Mrs. Edith Adams of Indiana. Our sincere sympathy goes out to the bereaved relatives in their hour of sorrow.

Edward Wales, who was very ill, is somewhat better at present. Mrs. Wales is also on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McCollough were business visitors at Grand Rapids Wednesday.

Messrs. Hass, Sanger and Igouski made a trip to Pittsville on Wednesday.

Miss Viletta Griswold of Daly returned home on Saturday from Grand Rapids where she had been visiting friends several days.

Robt. McLain was called home to Chicago on Friday to see his father who is very ill. His many friends wish the Major a speedy recovery. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Casper Vervoit a baby girl, March 11th, to gladen their home.

C. S. Lowe spent Saturday and Sunday at his home at Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Tester and daughter, Cloe, of Cloquet, Minn., are visiting at the Ernest Rayome home on Chestnut St. Miss Alice Tester of Prairie du Sac, and Edwin Grosklau, also of Prairie du Sac, are also guests at the Rayome home.

BOOST for Grand Rapids

Fresh Vegetables Just Received This Morning

at
Ed. Garber's

"The Poor Man's Friend"

Cash and deliver to any part of the city.

IDEAL TONIGHT

TWO SHOWS—7 AND 8:45
Prices 10 and 25 Cents

Of all the great screen dramas of the day, none surpasses in story, direction, acting, scenes and extraordinary dramatic strength, this supreme production—"THE CONFESSION." It's a play that you can see twice, yes three times, and be impressed with it's hugeness more and more. It stands out as one of the real dramatic triumphs of years and brings you a picked cast of star players headed by—

America's Greatest of all Emotional Actors

HENRY B. WALTHALL

Brilliant Star of "The Birth of a Nation" in

"THE CONFESSION"

The Play
You'll Never Forget

NO matter what station in life, be you rich, poor or middleman, no matter what your creed, no matter what your ideas of justice, mercy or retribution, here is THE PLAY for you.

Just Remember This

You will see the great WALTHALL, brilliant Star of the world's mightiest photodrama, "THE BIRTH OF A NATION" in this play, in which critics concede that Walthall does his greatest emotional work.

Brilliant Cast—Marvelous Scenes—Inspiring

It's a play that bares the instinct of the human; lifts up to nature the mirror that reflects every trait of passion, love, romance, filled to overflowing with tremendous suspense and tensest action you've ever witnessed on the silver screen. DO NOT MISS THIS WONDERFUL PRODUCTION!

Directed by Bertram Bracken.
Produced by The National Film Corporation of America from Hal Reid's great stage play that created a sensation throughout America.
Presented by George H. Davis.

SATURDAY Mabel Normand in "Mickey"

Prices 10 and 20 Cents

COMING - Nazimova in "Out of the Fog"

Classified Ads

BRING RESULTS

DALY'S Theatre Friday, March 19

RIPON COLLEGE GLEE CLUB CONCERT

1920—Twenty-Seventh Annual Tour—1920
BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

25 High Class Singers and Entertainers

THE SONGS YOU LIKE TO HEAR

Prices 35c, 50c and 75c Plus Was Tax
Seats on Sale at Daly's Drug Store.

Palace Tonight

10 and 20 Cents
YOU KNOW
from reading the title of our picture this evening that it is lively.

"Rustling A Bride"

is the jolliest kind of a picture play and little

Lila Lee

is as pretty and as piquant as a May Flower. It will make you forget your troubles.

Also a
BRAY PICTOGRAPH
Its Funny.

THIS WILL BE THE LAST "BILL HART" PICTURE FOR SOME TIME.

HE'S WONDERFUL

In this picture is that most famous of Western screen heroes, Big

BILL HART

Wild, woolly and inflexible in his fight for the right, but tender and almost cowed in the presence of the girl he loved.

"Square Deal Sanderson"

is just the type of story we all love to see BILL HART in.

COME!

CHILDRENS MATINEE 4 P. M. THURSDAY

Matinee 2:30 to 5

Night 7 and 8:45

5 and 15 Cents

10 and 25 Cents

Palace Tomorrow

NORTHERN BAPTISTS MASSING FORCES IN $100,000,000 DRIVE

Big Sum Asked in One Movement to Fulfill Five-Year Program—Personal Service of 2,000,000 Members to Be Used to Make Huge Pledges More Effective—Education to Be Feature of Great Activity, Both in U. S. and Abroad.

By LUPTON WILKINSON.

The 10,686 churches which constitute the Northern Baptist Convention are moving forward this spring in a program termed by their leaders one of the most significant unified advances a Christian body has ever made. Thirty-four state convention headquarters are teaming with activity and the entire strength of the denomination is marshalled, ready for a task whose size may well be called staggering.

It is now nine months since the assembled national delegates of the Northern Baptists met in Denver and after providing entirely new and modern church organization machinery set the face of 2,000,000 people toward a five year effort, necessitating expenditures that will total at least $100,000,000. The urgency of the world situation, viewed from the Christian standpoint and made clear in detail to the convention through a 150-page itemized survey of the field's needs, has worked like multiplying leaven. Thousands upon thousands of copies of that survey have been distributed in answer to individual written requests.

The denominational program is known officially as the New World Movement of Northern Baptists. It is defined as "an attempt to apply vigorously the principles of Christianity to the problems confronting the world." The shadow of many ills, the stresses and pain of humanity, struggling to give a new order birth after the cataclysm of war has swept away old standards and safeguards, are the basic urges behind the Baptist effort.

The churches involved, believing the call to service imperative and fated only to grow larger, have decided to pledge the entire $100,000,000 Baptist fund in one financial "drive" between April 21 and May 2. My purpose here is not to discuss the task involved in the raising of such a sum. The impetus of aid and co-operation from numerous other denominations working together in the Interchurch World Movement will aid the Baptists greatly in their money campaign, a larger one than any other denomination faces this spring.

What must interest the general public in considering the huge undertaking are some very practical questions. Through what channels does the church hope to effect the application of the Christian ideal and the Christian machinery toward a lessening of unrest? How clearly and wisely have the church leaders viewed the situation? Do they work with a seeing vision of the tremendous ground, physically and spiritually speaking, that they must cover? How definite and concrete are their plans?

No one who has read the report of the Field Survey Committee of the Northern Baptist Convention can reasonably doubt the earnestness with which the men behind the New World Movement are striving to be practical. The scope of the Americanization plans indicates the trend. Children in the Sunday-schools will be asked to treat the children of the foreign-born as friends. Baptist women will be asked to cultivate friendship as individuals with foreign-born women. Missions will be established in mining, manufacturing and logging districts where the native proportion of the population is small.

Speaking of "future citizens," the report of the committee says:

"We cannot honestly preach to them and teach them national ideals if we are silent while they, because they are strangers, are being exploited. It is our Christian duty to assist in the bettering of factory conditions, standards

FIFTY LEADING BADGER FARMERS

Including Twenty Who Have Been "Recognized" by the University of Wisconsin.

"For years Charles Perry Goodrich has been a dairy missionary in this and in other states, working in the most self-sacrificing manner to secure the application of scientific principles to dairying."

With these words one of Wisconsin's grand old men of agriculture was presented to the president of the University of Wisconsin at the first annual "recognition exercises" at the college of agriculture. At these exercises people prominent in the development of agricultural thought and practice of the state who are not affiliated with any public institution are formally recognized.

Began Lecturing Late.

Mr. Goodrich has had no spectacular career. Until he had attained full middle life he was unknown outside of a small circle of neighbors. Had you been present at his first public appearance you would have seen a middle-aged farmer somewhat timidly expressing himself on the lecture platform by reading a carefully prepared paper to which he closely adhered. After a time you would have seen him put the paper aside and you and the other Wisconsin farmers would have had the pleasure of listening to a speaker who was intensely practical and helpful and powerful in the presentation of his subject.

From this time his popularity rapidly increased and he was called upon to go to all parts of the United States as a lecturer on the dairy cow. He became one of the most forceful speakers developed by the farmers' institute system.

Agriculture His Hobby.

He was born in Stockbridge, Madison county, New York, on February 8, 1831. The family moved to Wisconsin in 1846 and settled near Fort Atkinson, where the father bought forty acres of land for $60. Young Goodrich was a carpenter and a store clerk for a few years. He then purchased an eighty-acre farm where he diligently followed his own until his enlistment in the army in 1861. After serving three and one-half years in the Civil war he began dairying in a small way, continuing the business with success until 1893, when he placed his farm in charge of a son and moved to Fort Atkinson. There he has been interested in manufacturing as a business and in agriculture as a hobby. He began lecturing in 1887 at farmers' institutes and dairy meetings, and continued to do so for twenty years. His school education was limited to the country district school, followed by a few years as a teacher during the winter. He also studied surveying and was county surveyor of Jefferson county for about twenty years.

Charles Goodrich.

A dairy missionary in the full sense of the word, Mr. Goodrich worked with considerable self-sacrifice and untiring effort on the platform and out in the open country. He has urged and helped others to become better dairymen and to adopt a higher plane of living, with no prospect or expectation of compensation. Only a few men can parallel the personal sacrifice that he made to help others to better dairying and from there to better living.

Dairy Cow Indispensable.

"If the dairy cow disappeared from the country we would cease to exist in five generations as an efficient nation."

AUCTION APARTMENTS TO HIGHEST BIDDER

ROOMS SO SCARCE IN ST. LOUIS THAT PEOPLE BID FOR THEM

St. Louis, Mo.—Auctioning apartments to the highest bidder is the newest measure several St. Louis real estate owners are using to obtain maximum returns on their property.

The City Complaint Board has received many letters to this effect from disgruntled tenants. The tenants write that property owners assert exceptional rentals have been offered them in the last 18 months, because of the house famine, and that at the expiration of leases the apartments would be turned over to the highest bidder.

One of the complainants, Charles V. Brady, declared his rent had been increased from $17.50 to $52.50 in the last 2 years.

AD IN DAILY.

San Francisco—Here is an advertisement that appeared in a daily paper here recently.

Wanted—Position in kitchen or general household by man that has been keeping bar for twenty-eight years.

The applicant, John Kornahrens, according to a newspaper interview, suggested that as household help is lacking the "members of a noble old profession might come to the rescue."

St. Patrick's

were to visit Grand Rapids tomorrow, he would undoubtedly drop in at

Wolt's

for some of that St. Patrick's Day Special Ice Cream.

Order it early—we have only a limited supply.

Wolt's Candy Shop

WYSE--

"Auld Ireland" Special

Ice Cream Sundae

for

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Something really new! "Eat" to that venerable Saint of Auld Ireland.

St. Patrick's Day special candies. Hard candies—real mints and spearmints—just the color of the Shamrock Green.

--WYSE

"MEDICATED THROAT DISCS"

A reliable and harmless antiseptic treatment, for affections of the throat and bronchial tubes. Of great value for the relief of coughs, hoarseness, loss of voice, sore throat, etc.

Johnson & Hill Co.

DRUG DEPT.

The New Karo Maple

Don't Worry About the Scarcity and High Price of Maple Syrup. Lots of Karo Maple at Your Grocers

THE economy of Karo Maple Flavor is not the real reason for its popularity.

The delicious flavor of the new Karo Maple Flavor comes from the finest and purest of maple sugar. That is why people find it so delightful for pancakes and waffles.

Karo Maple Flavor is absolutely pure and wholesome. These are important facts, but they mean little to the average man or boy. It's good—that's all they want to know.

Be sure to ask your grocer for Karo Maple in the Green Can. It is guaranteed to please you, or your grocer returns your money.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING COMPANY
17 Battery Place New York

Selling Representative

CHICAGO OFFICE: 213 East Illinois Street

REMEMBERS TEAM.

Cincinnati, Ohio—Ivy Wingo, star catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, world's champions, is one baseball player who does not intend to forget his interest in the Cincinnati club or his admiration for Pat Moran, his manager. Wingo has two hunting dogs, which he has named "Ciney" and "Moran." When the ball season is over, Wingo gets his gun and dogs and carries his summer memories into the hunting grounds.

A Tribune Want Ad costing 25 cents sold $30.00 worth of second hand furniture within two hours.

SIR JOSEPH THOMSON

Sir Joseph Thomson, world famous physicist and educator.

That the Stove Polish YOU Should Use

It's different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.

Black Silk Stove Polish

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers. All we ask is that you use it on your own stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish. Also in liquid or paste—same quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works

Sterling, Illinois

Use Black Silk Stove Polish on brass, copper, silver, chrome, nickel, tin, etc. It is guaranteed to please you, or your dealer returns your money.

"A Shine in Every Drop"

MISS MARY GARRETT HAY

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the women's division of the Republican national executive committee.

CITY SELLS JAIL

Austin, Minn.—As a result of prohibition wiping out the available supply of prisoners, the City of Austin has sold its jail to Roy Farthey, who will use the building for storage purposes. There have been so few arrests under dry rule that city authorities decided it was a useless expense to maintain the building. They will use the county jail for stray offenders hereafter.

MARYLAND IS FIRST OF TYPE LAUNCHED

SUPERDREADNAUGHTS SLOW IN GETTING INTO WATER.

Newport News.—The Maryland is the first of four ships of her class to be launched and is one of the ten superdreadnaughts authorized in the first three year building program adopted in 1916. With a length of 624 feet over all, a beam of 97 1/2 feet and full load displacement of 32,950 tons, she is the largest fighting craft built for the American Navy, and when commissioned will be one of the most powerful battleships in the world.

Designed Plans.

Originally designed to carry twelve 14-inch rifles, the plans for the ship were so changed during the war that she will have instead eight 16-inch guns—the first of this size were mounted on a ship. They will be placed two each in four turrets on the center line, two forward and two aft. They will be larger by one inch than the great guns on the British ships of the Queen Elizabeth class which were used in the bombardment of the Dardanelles.

Battleship designed since the Maryland was laid down, however, will be even more powerful. They will carry twelve 16-inch rifles and will measure 684 feet over all with a displacement of 43,200 tons. Their speed will be 23 knots as against the 21 knots of the Maryland and practically all previous classes of American dreadnaughts.

Keel Laid in 1917.

The Maryland's keel was laid on April 24, 1917, eighteen days after the United States declared war on Germany. Work on her was delayed by reason of the rush in getting out destroyers to fight submarines, but it has been rushed since the armistice and the vessel is now nearly three-quarters completed. She will be electrically driven by four propellers, the power for which will be furnished by turbines of approximately 29,000 horsepower. Steam will be furnished by eight oil burning boilers.

WOULD REVIVE THE FAMILY AS UNIT

Church Heads Seek to Stimulate Common Interest and Offset Too Much Individualism.

Saving the American family from "over-emphasized individualism" is announced as a leading purpose of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists.

"There is too much talk of living one's own life and too little of the unit good," said Dr. H. A. Heath of the General Board of Promotion of the Northern Baptist Convention. "It is an unusual family that has any vital common interest."

To unify the family in its church life at least 10,000 Baptist churches throughout the country are being reorganized on the basis of what is known as the Family Group Plan. Every local church of the denomination in the Northern states will be divided into family groups, with not more than ten families in a group; a leader will be appointed, and the various group leaders, with the pastor, will form a church cabinet to put local and denominational programs into effect.

"Family Sunday" will be observed at least once each three months in all the Baptist churches in the country. Everything about the services, songs, text and sermon, will be chosen from the point of view of interesting the family. Members of the family will be asked to sit together, and in thousands of rows of seats in the United States father will head the row and low-head son will occupy the end seat.

Christian leaders say that family prayers are held at the present time in not more than one out of every ten families of church members. The Baptist campaign will make an effort to revive the custom in all the homes of that denomination.

The various members of each family group in the church will be expected to entertain each other in their homes. Since these divisions will be made without reference to social status, perhaps on an alphabetical basis or in some other equally impartial way, this will mean a real test of Christian democracy. The leaders believe that the members of the various congregations will come through this acid test triumphantly.

"Brotherhood ought to be an actual working principle in our churches and not an idle word," Dr. Heath said. "If it is not an actual working principle this is the time for us to find it out. If there is Christian snobbishness it should be uprooted. But, as a matter of fact, the Family Group Plan is being met with favor wherever it is being tried out in our churches, and families write in that they welcome this opportunity to mingle with those of varying viewpoints."

Family week-end meetings will also be introduced into many local Baptist churches, at which the various members of the family will come together for readings, recitations, music, games and chat. These programs will not necessarily be religious at all, the church leaders say. The church can safely be used for family enjoyment in these modern times, they declare.

Dr. Heath contends that this reorganization of the church on the family basis is both wise and natural.

"The family is the natural division within the church as well as outside of it," he said. "The Baptist Church is simply recognizing this fact in the New World Movement. If the movement results in a stronger welding of family ties and in helping to settle the national discontent through the mingling of various classes the church, the home and the nation will all be the better for it."

MARTIN TO BOX RILEY

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the American and allied armies overseas has been matched to box Jack ("one Round") Riley, of Indiana, here on March 12. They were to have met Feb. 27, but the bout was postponed because of an injury to Martin's hand.

ADDRESSED MEETING

Birmingham, Eng.—Lady Astor addressed the opening meeting here the other night of a women's campaign for state purchase and control of the liquor trade. She characterized the plan as "practical," but said no government in England at the present time could hope to win an election with prohibition as its main platform plank.

FLASHLIGHTS

This always has been a rough world for the man who tries to beat all the rules.

The best way to avoid the consequences of shame is never to take a chance.

Most of the repair shops exist because somebody didn't do his work well enough in the first place.

A Washington man voluntarily returned to jail. Evidently wanted to be sure of a place to eat and sleep.

The average married man talks a lot, but as a matter of fact if it weren't for his wife he'd be helpless most of the time.

Ever notice the racket those high-priced curs make when your neighbors are backing them into their garages after midnight?

One of the reasons a woman likes fine clothes is because she knows her husband would soon lose his love for a shabby wife.

A fellow always remembers the bad luck which upset his plans, but he never speaks of the good luck which gave him something he hadn't earned.—Detroit Free Press.

AND ALL FELT BETTER

Mrs. Clogg went to church to find out where the missionary meeting would be held.

Sadie Williams went to flirt with the Scott boy.

The Scott boy went to flirt with Sadie Williams.

Willie Jones went because his mother made him.

His sister went because she had her hair up for the first time.

The sexton went because he had to pump the organ.

James B. Jenkins went because he had done so for 14 years.

A SINNER'S DIARY

It's hard camouflaging 200 pounds into 90.

All soldiers must be chocolate, the way the girls are after 'em.

Cheer up! When the one that's in the way now gets out someone else will get in.

There's as many kinds of autos as there are religions.

Graft—when you aren't in it.

We've all said "It's cheaper to buy than to save," till there's nothing left.

The women can do the work, right enough, if they don't have the men to wait on.

The only folks we can get along with are those we don't care a darn what they do.

Sometimes nature doesn't seem to have any more sense than some of the other rulers.

You can serenely watch it rain on your neighbor's beans; when on your own it makes you nervous.—Lynette Freeman in Judge.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Some of the ice fields of Greenland are half a mile in thickness.

Until it is six or seven years of age the pearl oyster does not produce any pearls.

In western Persia there is a race of plucky camels, five feet in height and snow-white in color.

It is estimated that throughout the world blind men outnumber blind women in the proportion of two to one.

With most of the leading wrestlers of Japan wrestling is an occupation which has been handed down from father to son for many generations.

The Tonga basin, near New Zealand, is known to contain animal life at a depth of four and three-quarter miles, where the pressure is five and a half tons to the square inch.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY

Men and roosters sometimes lose their heads by crowing too soon.

If men were less stupid women would have to be more clever.

A good many people secretly rejoice at the misfortune of their friends.

You can battle up the truth for a time, but it eventually pops the cork.

You may succeed in convincing a man against his will; but what's the use?

Only a mean man enjoys seeing another man's wife smoking a cigarette.

"You Can't Get Away from It" says the Good Judge

A little of the Real Tobacco Chew gives more genuine satisfaction than the big chew of the old kind.

Saves money, too—because this class of tobacco lasts much longer. The rich tobacco taste stays right with it.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Put Up In Two Styles

RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco

Weyman-Bruton Company, 1107 Broadway, New York City

LIFE OR DEATH TO YOUR PIANO WHICH?

THE average owner of a piano uses less judgment in caring for it than any other piece of furniture he possesses. A good wash-tub costs one dollar. A good piano costs over three hundred times as much. Yet sometimes the wash-tub receives the most actual care.

Some people expect impossibilities of their pianos. It would seem that, because the purchasing of a piano is to many a very important event and involves quite a large expenditure, they expect it not only to last a long lifetime, but to keep in perfect order and give satisfaction without its receiving any care other than seeing that it remains in the house right side up.

A piano should have more care than a watch, and certainly no thinking person would expect his watch to keep good time and run year after year without care, and without being cleaned and regulated about every twelve months. A piano has a delicate mechanism and many of the parts are as finely adjusted as the works of a watch, and it needs more care because its case and works (action, etc.) will not stand the changes of temperature so well.

Another point of extreme importance is the accurate setting of the equal temperament and I could go on the enumerate many others all of which the really expert tuner considers and which I will guarantee to give you.

I call your attention to these points because I wish to give you a little information about piano tuning and demonstrate to you that I am equipped and will give your piano as tender and skillful care as the most careful physician bestows upon his patient.

Placed in the hands of an expert tuner the life of any good piano is long and its purity of tone will be maintained, not because the strings alone are tuned to a certain accurate pitch, but because the expert will give the instrument the necessary tuning, voicing, adjustments and action regulation.

There are many so-called tuners who have good ears, but utterly lack the mechanical skill and knowledge to repair the action, make adjustments, etc. On the other hand there are plenty of mechanics who can do the mechanical part, but know no more about voicing and tuning than a novice. You must have the mechanic and tuner combined.

J. D. Hotchkiss

EXPERT PIANO TUNER AND REBUILDER

PHONE YOUR ORDER NOW

JULIEN HOTEL—PHONE NO. 273

TO HOLDERS OF COUPON LIBERTY BONDS

The following COUPON Liberty Loan Bonds were issued by the government in temporary form and the Treasury Department is now prepared to exchange such issues for bonds of the same issue in permanent form with all coupons attached to maturity.

Bonds to Be Exchanged

TITLE	LAST COUPON	EXCHANGABLE
1st L. L. Conv. 4 per cent of 1932-47	Dec. 15-1916	Mar. 15, 1920
1st L. L. Conv. 4 1/4 per cent of 1932-47	June 15-1920	Mar. 15, 1920
2nd L. L. 4 per cent of 1927-42	Nov. 15-1919	Mar. 15, 1920
2nd L. L. Conv. 4 1/4 per cent of 1927-42	May 15-1920	Mar. 15, 1920
3rd L. L. Conv. 4 1/4 per cent of 1928	Mar. 15-1920	Mar. 15, 1920

Registered bonds of the above issues DO NOT come under this ruling and will not have to be converted.

Bonds will be exchanged upon the basis of issue for issue.

Coupon bonds may be exchanged for registered bonds of the same issue is desired.

All bond holders of the above issues are requested to deposit their bonds with any one of the following banks on or before March 15th, 1920.

BANK OF GRAND RAPIDS
CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
WOOD COUNTY NATIONAL BANK

STRAY PLANTS

The farmer's expletive—"My Land!"

The slanderer is the social misfit, ever seeking "my dirt."

A seeming sneer may be only the lack of a dentist.

Put your heart in your work. (Plenty of room for it.)

Prejudice is like a good cigar. Enjoy it alone.

Every "hep-hep" of the boy scout marks the advance thread of a real man.

Patience, boys. Did you ever note how the old team seems to know when Dad takes hold of the lines?

On the school-house, yes. And you might even hoist Old Glory above the potato-field.

Think of a food-shortage when the only happy people will be the dyspeptics!

Pretty good kind of aristocracy, after all, that dug up crocuses to plant the potatoes.

Remember, life's record is always written with an indelible pencil. Hence so many obscuring blots.

Always try to transplant young sprouts into better soil. Your young life is one of them.

It were not seemly to think you're "the only man in the world"—but try to think you know one mighty good one.

Nature gave the hawk speed to strike the dove—but you'll be doing nothing unnatural to shoot the hawk.—J. H. Mackley in Ohio Farmer.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Nobody swatted the fly.

Nobody had seen a silo.

Nobody had appendicitis.

Nobody wore white shoes.

Nobody wore a wrist watch.

Nobody sprayed the orchards.

Most young men owed livery bills.

Farmers came to town for their mail.

Nobody "listened in" on the telephone.

The hired girl drew one-fifty a week and was happy.

The butcher "threw in" a piece of liver.

And the safety razor had not harvested the alfalfa from the face of the farmer.

DON'T YOU REMEMBER

The kindly medico who gave his nag a lump of sugar before coming into the house?

The venerable Aesculapian who always had spots on the front of his Prince Albert?

The extraordinary medico who commented on each symptom, saying, "That doesn't worry me!"—Journal of the American Medical Association.

REMARKS

The only standing army that really looks good to us is the Salvation army.

The world does not change much. You will still find a girl almost anywhere who says she wouldn't marry a certain man if he were the last man on earth, but if you hang around awhile you will find that she will marry him, just the same.

The country is dry legally, but it is wet every other way.

Maybe it is because the kaiser has no lawyer that he can't be hauled out of Holland and juggled in London tower.

We are indeed a strange people. And one way we take to fool ourselves is to turn the clock back to save daylight.

BITS OF ENGLISH LAW

The English infant is not exempt from income tax.

A medical man who uses a motor-car may claim an allowance for depreciation.

No penalty can be exacted by the government after the expiration of three years.

The penalty for a false declaration is a fine not exceeding $100 and treble duty.

A man earning $800 and his spouse possessing a private income of $800 a year pay no tax, but when they marry the man will have to include his wife's income with his own and pay the tax accordingly.

HAS MANY CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

PENNSYLVANIA COACH WOULD DETERMINE LENGTH OF GAME BY NUMBER OF PLAYS

Philadelphia—John H. Hiesman, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team, favors the proposal to substitute a certain number of plays for a certain period of time to determine the length of football games.

"It is a good rule," he said, "and would eliminate the old evil of stalling. I do not know off-hand how the details could be worked out, but Pennsylvania's representatives should be instructed to support the proposal at the annual meeting of the Rules Committee in New York next month. I also think it would be a good thing to change the scoring to give four points for balls lost within five yards of the opponent's goal line, three points inside the ten yard line and two points inside the 20 yard line. Thus there would be no tie games where one team distinctly outplayed the other."

Dr. Carl Williams, for several years Pennsylvania's representative on the Rules Committee, while admitting the plan to regulate the length of football games by plays instead of time had some good points, was not as unqualified in his approval as Coach Hiesman.

"It has been suggested many times at meetings of the Rules Committee," he said, "but as far as I can remember never even got so far as a vote. It has many advantages, altho it probably would call for another official. If some practical way of working it out can be found it ought to be a good thing for the game, but it is one of those suggestions that needs considerable discussion before an opinion should be formed."

URGE FARMERS TO HIRE HELP EARLY

SEE SCARCITY OF LABOR AS SPRING PROGRAM OPENS

If the farmers of Wood county and the state of Wisconsin want to be sure of help next summer they will do well to employ men on a yearly contract. Otherwise they are very likely to find themselves in a predicament of having no help at all when the peak load is plowing, haying and harvesting occurs.

That is the advice given by J. S. Miller of Madison, state superintendent of employment for the Wisconsin Industrial commission, who visited the local employment bureau recently. Mr. Miller based his prediction on the conditions as shown by compilation of statistics of the twelve state agencies.

"At this very time, when farm work is at its low ebb, there are 51 applications for farm help which we have not been able to supply," said Mr. Miller. "The whole country will undertake a prodigious building program next summer. The good roads activities will be marked. The result will be that thousands of men will be given out of door work that character."

Contract for Help
"It is always difficult for farmers frequently they make no attempt to get help in the summer and too employ men until their work begins to pile up and then it is too late. We can furnish labor only when there is labor to be had. It is my judgment that farmers who fail to contract with their help soon for the ensuing year will have a hard time getting men next summer."

Mr. Miller said the commission has just finished computing the re-

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

THE GRAND CANYON IN ARIZONA.

THE late George Fitch said "Arizona was made by nature in a frivolous and contradictory mood, a few million years ago, just to show man, when he arrived, what she could do when she felt like it."

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado River—the most wonderful geological and spectacular phenomenon known to man—is in Arizona. Discovered by Spanish explorers in 1540, it has been an object of wonder and admiration ever since. In approaching it your first surprise is that you are not prepared for it. Its beginning is so very abrupt. In one jump from the edge you could go down 2,000 feet.

Viewed from the rim, looking down, it is a stupendous panorama—an unbelievable abyss, 3,000 to 5,000 feet deep, 10 to 18 miles wide and 200 miles long. Its sides are lined with countless and varied ornamental architectural features, the whole beautifully tinted and colored and marvelously harmonious. Seen from the bottom, looking up, it is so big that it amazes and bewilders one. On every side are endless processions of caves, terraces, pinnacles, towers, buttes, cliffs and peaks—storm-carved and weather-stained—many of them higher than any mountain east of the Rockies, yet none of them level with the top. Globe trotters say that nothing else in all the world even remotely approaches this spectacle.

The color combination seems to shift with every movement of the sun, clouds or your position. There is a trail to the bottom and a road around the rim.

suits of its year's work and most gratifying results are shown. "During the year 1919, the employment agencies of the state placed 115,000 applicants for employment. We took care of 72 1-2 percent of all the applicants for positions. As against the 115,000 there were 157,000 calls for help and we were able to fill only 62 1-2 percent of the calls. That shows a marked shortage in labor in various lines of activity."

Service Men Aided

"We paid especial attention to the employment of returned service men. The soldiers and sailors bureaus, organized under direction of the employment agencies, made a check on the results as well as the employment agencies themselves. Men who were willing to take employment other than that they were engaged in before the war registered in camp abroad, or in this country or on the transports. There were 40,000 of such registrations made. Many of them did go back to their former positions and we found places for 10,000 of the returned men. There were 5,000 men placed in farm positions during the year."

"Wisconsin has 136 soldiers and sailors' bureaus of a total of 2,100 in the United States and the record of this state in placing its men has been excellent."

TRAIN RUGBY TEAM FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

PACIFIC COAST UNIVERSITIES ORGANIZE ALL-STARS TO MEET WORLD'S BEST.

San Francisco—A team that may win for the United States the Rugby football championship at the Olympic games is being organized on the Pacific coast. Its nucleus will be the Stanford-California varsity team which invaded British Columbia during the Christmas holidays and defeated three all-star fiftens and one from the University of British Columbia. The games were played in Vancouver and Victoria, regarded as the strongest Rugby centers of Canada.

Has Winning Players.

H. Wilfred Maloney, Stanford trainer and coach for the American army men in the Allied Games in France last year, lists the following as prospective members of the team for the Olympic Games:

Dan Carroll, Stanford; winner of the Olympic medal with the Australian team at London in 1908; member of the world famous "Wallaby" and "Waratah" Australian teams; played on Oxford University, England.

R. L. Templeton, Stanford; one of the finest punters in the world.

Slater, Tilden and McKim, Calif., and Patrick and Righter, Stanford; heavy, fast forwards.

John and William Muldoon, University of Santa Clara; the latter played with London hospitals during the war and for America in the Allied Games.

James Wylie, Stanford; member of the Australian "Waratahs" and of the New Zealand "All Blacks"; a veteran among the world's best players.

Arthur Erb, Olympic Club, San Francisco; member of the famous Erb family of Rugby players.

Phone your news to the Daily Tribune. Telephone 394.

PORT EDWARDS

H. G. Hafenbrack of Port Edwards was a business visitor in the city on Tuesday.

Little Ward Rosebush entertained at the schoolhouse Monday afternoon the occasion being his 7th birthday anniversary. The little folks spent the time in playing games after which a fine lunch was served.

Little Elmer Keip had the misfortune to sprain his arm yesterday.

NEKOOSA

Miss Lena Whipli entertained a number of her girl friends at her home Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her 15th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Wm. Champey left Friday for Kalamazoo, Mich., where she will make her future home.

Mrs. G. W. Champey and children spent the week end with relatives at Babcock.

John Lasa, who has been employed at Janesville for sometime, is visiting with relatives here.

Mrs. L. Youngchild was a guest on Monday at the home of Mrs. John Manske at Grand Rapids.

Roy Youngchild left last evening for Milwaukee where he will spend some time.

Eugene Mitchell, who has been employed here spent the week end with his parents at Pittsville.

Mrs. J. Thomas of Appleton, who spent some time with relatives here the past week, left the fore part of the week for New Orleans where she will spend some time.

J. L. Kady of Wausau transacted business here Saturday.

Carl Brandt of Rudolph is spending some time with his son here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brazeau returned yesterday morning from Milwaukee and Chicago where they spent the past week on business and pleasure.

Mrs. Dorothy Boles entertained the members of the "500" Club at her home Thursday evening. A number of games of "500" were played. Mrs. F. R. Goddard winning honors. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Rev. John Feldman returned Saturday from Carroll, Iowa, where he spent a few days.

Miss Jean Marvin is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Muir at Biron.

Mrs. Albert Oilschlager visited relatives at Stevens Point the fore part of the week.

Mrs. J. Podvin was a shopper at Grand Rapids Saturday.

Miss Ward of Dubuque, Iowa, visited some time with friends here.

Miss Caroline Suhus of Ladysmith visited relatives here the fore part of the week.

Mrs. F. H. Waters will entertain the members of the Congregational Ladies Aid at her home tomorrow afternoon. Lunch will be served.

MATINEES 2:30 TO 5
CHILDREN'S MATINEES
4 P. M. THURS.—PALACE
BIG BILL HART

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

NATIONAL

Veiling
Week

MARCH
16 to 20

WATCH FOR OUR
SPRING OPENING
DISPLAY.

A Late Report from Paris

—informs us that veils, so dear to the French heart, are an indispensable part of the street costume this season. This popularity has spurred designers on to greater efforts than ever before, and some stunning creations are the result. You will find the newest styles here, in great assortment.

The new yard veilings in fancy meshes with hand drawn designs, woven squares, open work and chenille dots continue to be in great favor, not only in staple colors, but also in novelty combinations, such as French blue or taupe on navy, tan or brown. Other effective patterns are the square pattern filet meshes and dainty floral and leaf designs.

In ready to wear veils, the triangular or Arabian veil is the latest novelty, and has unique embroidered design in the three corners. The turban veils are also very popular, and are very chic when worn draped over the entire hat and extending over the face to the tip of the nose. They are also decorated in embroidered designs.

Yard Veiling
25c to $1.00

Ready-to-Wear Veils
75c to $1.25

Veiling Dept. Main Floor

THE PURE FOOD GROCERY

There is a reason why the PURE FOOD GROCERY is making such a rapid growth. A trial is all we ask to prove our efficiency.

Take advantage of the following MONEY SAVERS.

Garland Flour—None better, 49 pound bag $3.25
Crisco—A delightful cooking compound, 1 pound can 30c
Rolled Oats—They are well rolled, per pound 5c

GOOD PROVIDER'S FAMILY

WE ALL
GOT ENOUGH
TO EAT
DURING
THE WAR DIDN'T WE?

Van Camp's Ketchup—Fine with a piece of beef-steak.
large bottle 23c

Campbell's Pork and Beans—They sure are good. No.
2 can, 2 for 25c

Rice—Blue Rose Fancy—Fine quality, 2 lbs. 25c

SOAPS

Palm Olive and Jap Rose—

3 bars for 25c

Fels Naptha—per bar 7c

COMPLETE LINE OF MORSES, PAGE & SHAW BOX CANDIES

SPECIAL—One pound finest box chocolates, per box 68c
Bechnut Chewing Gum, per package 5c
Chums and Cracker Jack, per package 5c
S. & M. Tobacco, 1/2 pound package 25c
Prince Albert, 2 tins for 25c

10 PER CENT. DISCOUNT ON CANNED GOODS

We are still offering a 10 per cent. discount on all brands of canned goods selling for 20 cents per can or more. Take advantage of this exceptional offer.

SEEDS! SEEDS!

We will again, as in the past, carry the most complete stock of high grade tested field and garden seeds in Central Wisconsin. See us first before filling your wants, for we can save you money.

U. S. A. SURPLUS PROPERTY STORE

No. 10 Tomatoes, per can 33c
No. 3 Tomatoes, per can 11c
No. 2 Tomatoes, per can 8c
No. 3 can Pork and Beans 9c
No. 1 can Pork and Beans 4c